Installation of a public call box. 1 Victoria Street London SW1H 0ET

28th February 2017

We are surprised that there is a perceived need for a phone kiosk here. There appears to be a BT phone booth a few metres away. Either this is no longer functioning, for the reason that there is little demand (in which case why put in another one?), or it is still in use. An additional kiosk is surely not then needed.

The addition of a kiosk here would seem to add to the street clutter without the enhancement brought by, for instance, cafe tables and chairs to which we never object.

There is no supporting document explaining the reasoning behind this application. We therefore object to this proposal in the absence of a reason for supporting it.
